

Steve Lopez

Executive Producer

Born in Kettering, Ohio to young missionary physicians; Steve's family traveled extensively throughout Central America for more than a decade. After attending high school in Loveland, Colorado, Steve then served four years with California State Department of Fire and Forestry. In 1996 Lopez returned to Kettering to continue his formal education. In 2001 Steve founded JCL Industries, LLC a Corporate Consulting Firm specializing in Project Management. His practice enables business owners to reach their goals while protecting their financial positions both personally and professionally. JCL has served over 50 commercial clients spanning the globe. Clients include companies in the medical, military, manufacturing, and high-tech research/development industries. Steve is excited to be a part of this historic production of "Rockin' the Wall Films, LLC".
